

INTRODUCTION

PARENTS:

As we write, we think on Deuteronomy 11, where God tells us to teach our children His words and fix them in our minds and hearts. To talk about them when we sit at home, when we walk along the road (or shall we say drive in our mini vans!), when we lie down and when we get up! It is exactly with that intention that we provide you with this guide. Use it as you wish in the building months before the Walk for Water 2017 to help your family understand that it isn't just one event that we go to and "help the poor" for a day, but rather that these are God's precious children on the other side of the world that He loves as much as He loves our families on this side of the world, and He has called us to care for them.

We pray that you and yours will have amazing, and maybe sometimes difficult, conversations as you journey together in learning and praying more about those around the world without access to clean water and sanitation. Perhaps you set aside time each day or week to go through each devotion? Or perhaps you do only a portion a few days a week? We pray that you find what works for your family as you guide them into the important pursuit of becoming God's aware and active people who will join Him in His redemptive work.
